Adopt-A-Block cleans town

□ The Adopt-A-Block event will give the University a clean sweep.

By IVY CHIN
The BG News

Organizations are volunteering for cleaning up blocks around the BGSU community today, as part of Homecoming week.

The Campus Adopt-A-Block event will take place from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. Volunteers will check in at the field north of Memorial Hall. The program is being coordinated by the University Activities Organization Homecoming Committee.

According to Brian Larson, program adviser and adviser to the UAO Service Committee, Adopt-A-Block was first started three years ago. Misty Barnum, who was the Homecoming director at the time, first started the idea of having a community-wide service project as part of the Homecoming week. She hoped that by implementing this plan, many campus organizations would get involved.

"It is our goal to bring the campus community together to take ownership of our campus and help maintain the beauty of the grounds," Larson said.

Any student, office or organization can get involved in the program. Each group will be given trash bags and a specific portion of the campus to clean up. The trash bags and the gloves are donated by the University Physical Plant.

"It's kind of like the adopt-a-highway program that the state does," Larson said.

After cleaning up, everyone will meet back together for pizza provided by the Student Union. The program runs each year on the Wednesday during Homecoming week and the Wednesday before Sibs and Kids weekend in the Spring.

Students wait in line for lunch at the SunDial in Kreischer residence hall. The residence halls are overcrowded and there are insufficient dining halls to serve all of the students.

To have rooms or not to have rooms

□ Overcrowding in residence halls poses advantages and disadvantages to students and faculty.

By IRENE SHARON SCOTT
The BG News

Lately there have been talks about overcrowding and the effects it has on students in various areas on campus. Overcrowding in residence halls brings about complaints and complaints.

Jim Zentmeyer, the associate director of Residence Life, said there are some advantages and disadvantages to full residence halls.

The University has a successful admissions program. However, the University cannot offer as many options as in the past, for example, single housing and learning programs. However, the ability to offer such options is not good either because then there is a lack of students in the University's classrooms, Zentmeyer said.

"We do have a waiting list for single housing," he said.

The University has approximately 200 single rooms. Most are offered in the junior and senior housing located in Anderson. Exact information pertaining to the number of requests for single rooms is not available. However, Zentmeyer estimated that there were about 200-250 requests for single rooms.

Everyone does have housing on campus. Currently, individuals on waiting lists are roomed with a roommate. The University will either create a single room and ask the student if they wish to utilize the opportunity. If not, these individuals are re-contacted in November to be on the Spring semester waiting list he said.

Housing arrangements are done by computers. Factors that effect the chance of a student getting their preference is based on the time housing payments arrive, Zentmeyer said.

Advantages

- Because of overcrowding some computer labs are open 24 hours.
- It encourages students to get involved in organizations.
- Gives students the opportunity to meet a variety of people.

Disadvantages

- There is a waiting list for single rooms are not enough single rooms to fulfill all the requests.
- Students are required to wait in line to use the bathrooms.
- Insufficient dining halls to serve all the students.

Pre-reg eliminated

□ New procedures will make course registration easier for everyone involved.

By MELISSA NAYMIK
The BG News

Changes will be implemented this semester to make the course registration process less confusing for the students.

This year there will only be two phases, said Laura Waggoner director of registration and scheduling.

In the past, students were required to participate in course registration, followed by priority registration, preferred open registration, new open registration and finally open registration.

The office of the registrar, in cooperation with the office of academic affairs, decided it was time to change the old registration system, said Steven Richardson, vice provost for undergraduate student affairs. The old system was widely misunderstood by both students and faculty on campus, Richardson explained.

The process needed changed because students who went through one registration step thought they were finished registering and those who did call more than once often became annoyed with the process, Richardson said.

With the new registration system, there will only be two phases: Continuing Student Registration and Open Registration.

Continuing Student Registration is for all students who are currently enrolled at the University. This part of the registration process will take place between Nov. 2-24.

Access to the new registration process will be done through appointment times, which will be determined by the students' class standing and month of birth, rather than using grade point averages.

"This is similar to priority registration, but we wanted to get away from GPA," Waggoner said.

Waggoner said grades are no longer considered as a method because it is considered discrimination against students who have lower GPA's.

Individual appointment times will be available in the course scheduling book or the University website. The site will be updated beginning Oct. 5 and the class books will be available after Oct. 23.

Starting Nov. 2, the registration order will be seniors, freshmen, juniors, sophomores, graduate students and guests (those who attend the University, but are not interested in obtaining a degree).

An example of the process is as follows: all seniors who were born from January to March will register Nov. 2, and then the process will trickle down according to the student's class standing.

The birth month and class standing process will run on a rotating basis.

The primary reason freshmen will be able to register before

Burgeoning population demands attention

More students are attending BGSU this year than ever before.

The benefits of increased enrollment are clear. More students means more tuition, plus more state aid. Enrollment also increases the prestige of the University, which leads to more private contributions, and yes, even more students. The general pot of money is on the rise.

The University has always put a positive spin on more students. As we've seen, though, bringing more students in also creates problems such as fewer prime parking lots and fewer available prime dorm rooms.

Times when overcrowding was a problem are within the memory of some current students, even those who aren't on the six year track.

Since the start of President Ribeau's tenure, the University has had an overt and concentrated effort to increase enrollment. During this time, a main premise has stood unchallenged: bringing more students in is good for the University.

In the coming weeks, The News will run a series of articles examining the real impact of high enrollment. Every Wednesday, we'll examine areas such as residence halls, computer labs and classrooms, and determine to what extent these things are being affected by the influx of students.

We wish to examine the positive and negative effects of more students, as well as the trade-offs involved in going to and living at a University that is nearly full.

Ribeau has delivered on his promises, and the years of below-capacity enrollment seem to be in the past. We must now find out how the enrollment drive is good and bad for the University, and, perhaps more importantly, how the increase will affect individual students.

If any students, faculty or administration have comments or suggestions on this topic, the BG News welcomes their input.

OVERCROWDING

OVERCROWDING HAS BECOME A MAJOR ISSUE AT BOWLING GREEN UNIVERSITY. FORTUNATELY, UNIVERSITY OFFICIALS HAVE COME UP WITH A PLAN:

TO REMEDY CURRENT PARKING DIFFICULTIES, "SIC SIC" THE KNOWN COLLEGE SPIRIT SOCIETY, WILL DEMOLISH A LECTURE HALL TO GAIN ADDITIONAL SPACE, USING THE EXERCISE TO BUILD SCHOOL SPIRIT...

TODAY'S SPECIAL: BREAD & WATER $9.99 BURSARABLE

IN ORDER TO COMBAT OVERCROWDED CAFETERIA SITUATIONS, THE ADMINISTRATION PLANS TO INSTITUTE A "BREAD LINE" MODEL, SIMILAR TO THOSE PROVEN EFFECTIVE IN VARIOUS COMMUNIST BLOC NATIONS...

FINALLY, AFTER ANALYSIS OF THE PROLIFERATION OF SMOKING STUDENTS ON THE BGSU CAMPUS, AND THEIR COMPARATIVE TIMES SPENT IN VS. OUTSIDE THE DORMS, CHAIN SMOKERS WILL BE GIVEN THE OPTION OF LIVING IN "OPEN AIR" CONDITIONS ON THE ROOFS OF BGSU BUILDINGS. OBVIOUSLY, UPPER CLASSMEN WILL HAVE FIRST CHOICE OF THE LIBRARY AND OFFENHAUER ROOFS.

Walking alone safely is our right

"Hey, you shouldn't be walking alone — you might get raped."

That's what some guys yelled at me off a balcony Saturday night. I was walking home from a couple parties, and as I was leaving my friends' apartment on East Merry, some guys from a party on the balcony across the street noticed me. They apparently felt that it was their duty to point out that since I was a female walking alone, I should watch out.

I will try to explain why this angers me so much. They were so far away, all they could see is that I was a woman. So, this means that I am a sheep among wolves? The assumption that I need protection because I am unable to protect myself is ridiculous. I wasn't stumbling. I wasn't upset. I was calmly walking home. There were plenty of students walking along Thurston.

Of course there are bad elements out in the world. But just because I am a woman does not mean that I am automatically a victim. Just because it is night doesn't mean that those bad elements aren't there during the day — just more hidden.

One night when I worked at the campus police station, a woman got attacked by the Education building. Someone at Conklin made a remark, "Well, she shouldn't have been walking alone." And I said, "Well, he shouldn't have attacked her." People do get mugged, beat up and even raped. Is telling women not to walk alone really going to solve the problem? Why is the blame put on the "victim"?

For someone to actually hurt another person purposely, there needs to be a few factors. One of them is that they have to decide to do it. And they need an opportunity.

The freedom to leave your home and go out is a right that should not be denied by fear.

This fear is perpetuated by the idea that women are in danger, that everyone is a predator, and that a woman is too weak to protect herself.

The answer is not to stay home. The answer is to educate everyone on personal safety. Let them know that you need to be as aware in a small town as in a big city. Don't just buy pepper spray; learn how to defend your body and how to deter an attacker.

Make it unacceptable for people to hurt each other, which means socially condemning fights, and taking advantage of strangers. Criminals do not run this town. You might think that is kind of a harsh term, but roughing someone up behind a bar or grabbing a girl walking home is criminal.

Society needs to deter people from trying to hurt each other, especially in the cases where people are attacked for money or sex or excitement. And by society, I mean students. We are the ones that need to discourage these types of activities.

The opportunity part needs to be addressed by the community. Less crime occurs where people pay attention to what is going on, using neighborhood watches, etc. If the cops are always around, criminals are more wary. What if everyone walked around at night, on well-lit streets? Would you feel safer?

I'm definitely not advocating walking home alone if you are in no condition to do so. If you are really drunk, it's dangerous because of the harm you can cause yourself. Passing out in a ditch, someone's lawn, the train tracks, or the street is not a good idea.

But what I do want to say is that walking alone is a right that everyone should have. And instead of getting scared, we should get angry that crime makes us afraid. That's why things like "Take Back the Night" are so important. It sends a message: We will not be forced to give up our freedom.

And neither will I. I will walk alone if necessary. I will take the chance rather than confine myself to "safety". But I will do it aware of my surroundings and able to defend myself. Because "A life lived in fear is a life half-lived."

So to those guys on the balcony: If you aren't making this a safer place, then keep your mouths shut. Don't remind me that I'm supposed to be afraid. I'm not convinced.

Pythons are not ticklish

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Lori Rubinfeld has learned one lesson during her trip to Florida — it's really not such a great idea to try to tickle a hungry python.

Rubinfeld, 43, of New York City, said she was going to give Snake, her host's pet python, a good morning tickle Sunday when the python apparently mistook the friendly gesture for breakfast.

The 5-foot creature sunk its fangs into Rubinfeld's fingers and wrapped its body around her arm with "the weight of a bowling ball."

Dan Randall, 34, Snake's owner, suggested that she stick her arm — snake still attached — into the freezer. But Snake's grip only tightened.

Randall then suggested she hold her arm under water. But Snake proved amphibious.

Randall then called 911. After much brainstorming, firefighters discharged a carbon dioxide fire extinguisher into Snake's face. After three blasts of the gas, Snake dropped limp to the floor.

Neither Rubinfeld nor Snake were badly harmed.

"I am not a nature girl," Rubinfeld said Monday. "I just think it's so funny that I came down from the Big Bad Apple and this happens. I'm ready to go home now."

Throwing away money

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Somewhere in tons of trash at the Sioux Falls Landfill is a candy wrapper that could be worth $2 million.

But the mayor won't allow anyone to dig around for it.

Tim and Shirley Garrett said their teen-age son accidentally threw away the winning wrapper in the Snickers NFL Shockwave MVP game.

They said their friends agreed to help them dig through the trash heaped on top of the Garretts' garbage. The volunteers even planned to update their tetanus shots and don protective masks and gloves.

But after meeting with city and health officials Monday, Mayor Gary Hanson said no one would be allowed to search the dump because of the chemicals and biological hazards.

Mrs. Garrett said she was disappointed but would try to keep the incident in perspective. "We've got each other," she said tearfully. "It's all right. Life will go on."

Bob Pawlowski of Aurora, Ill., also is certain he threw away the winning wrapper. He and his wife put on rubber gloves and went through the garbage cans where it might have been. No dice.

His wife suggested the search continue at the local landfill. But Pawlowski was adamant he was not going to stoop to that measure.

DOT WORKER

Worker charged with taping conversations

EAST PALESTINE, Ohio (AP) — A state Department of Transportation worker secretly tape-recorded conversations of his co-workers and supervisors, the State Highway Patrol said Tuesday.

Troopers charged Gary Rhodes, 51, of this community 85 miles south-east of Cleveland, with interception of wire, oral or electronic communications. The charge is a felony that carries a maximum penalty of 18 months in prison.

The troopers began investigating the case after ODOT employees at the department's Unity outpost found a voice-activated microcassette tape recorder duct-taped under a conference table.

Rhodes said he had placed the recorder under the table to record music in an adjacent room, troopers said. But troopers found the conversations of Rhodes' supervisors and co-workers on the tape, said Lt. John Born, a patrol spokesman.

Rhodes, a project inspector and 20-year ODOT veteran, declined comment Tuesday. He is to appear in court on Oct. 8.

OIL SPILL

10-mile-long oil spill discovered off coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 10-mile-long, 2-mile-wide oil spill threatened the California coast today, as officials and oil companies rushed out a cleanup ship and authorities tried to determine who was responsible.

The spill about 10 miles west of the Golden Gate Bridge was reported Monday by a vessel that passed through it. Area oil companies sent a skimmer vessel to suck up the oil while a Coast Guard helicopter tried to determine the spill's size.

"It's not on the shoreline right now," said Coast Guard Lt. Richard Teubner. "It's close enough that if there are any changes in the weather, there could be impacts on the wildlife and the shoreline."

No one has taken responsibility for the spill. State and federal pollution investigators were tracking shipping activity, and samples from the spill will be compared with oil taken from ships in the area, Teubner said.

A skimmer boat, which use a containment boom that works like a conveyor belt to suck up the oil, was sent by a cooperative of oil companies. It will be followed by at least four others.

ARRESTED

Student arrested for having a gun in school

WICKLIFFE, Ky. (AP) — A student arrested and expelled for bringing a shotgun onto the grounds of Ballard Memorial High School claims it was legal because he is an adult.

A Ballard District Court judge disagreed and refused to drop a felony charge against 18-year-old Matthew Grimes.

At issue is a law forbidding students to have guns on school property. The same statute exempts adults who have weapons in vehicles. Grimes' attorney, Jane Osborne Gardner, argued that the exemption covered him.

State Rep. Charles Geveden of Wickliffe, testifying as a prosecution witness in a preliminary hearing Monday, said legislators did not want a parent with a gun rack in the rear window to unwittingly commit a crime by driving to school to pick up a child.

Grimes, a junior, was charged Sept. 1 after a shotgun was found in his vehicle on the school parking lot. He claimed he was going dove hunting.

Judge Keith Myers ruled there was enough evidence to send the case on to a grand jury.

FIREFIGHTER

Firefighter collapses in burning restaurant

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — A firefighter remained in stable condition Tuesday at an Owensboro hospital, three days after he collapsed inside a burning Chinese restaurant.

Capt. Stan Mock, 43, was moved from a coronary care unit to a regular room at Owensboro Mercy Health System, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Evacuees begin return after Georges makes exit

Georges left Florida and Alabama battered as it continued its path north to Georgia and South Carolina.

The Associated Press

PASCAGOULA, Miss. — The whirlwind that was Georges began to disappear from the weather map Tuesday, but its story was still being written: Rains drenched Alabama and the Florida Panhandle, and evacuees slowly returned to find out what happened to their homes.

"I had waterfront property, waterback property, waterside property, watereverywhere property," said 43-year-old postal worker Jayne Howell, who found her brick ranch house in Pascagoula awash in sewage, seaweed and branches.

Downgraded to just a tropical depression, Georges and its downpours moved northeast, into Georgia and South Carolina. The hurricane wind that ripped through the coast with gusts as high as 174 mph had dropped to 35 mph.

President Clinton declared the entire storm-damaged swath a disaster area and planned to visit as soon as recovery operations allowed. Power remained out to about 400,000 customers from Louisiana to Florida.

Rivers continued to overflow. The Pascagoula River at Merrill rose from 3.4 feet on Monday to 20.8 feet on Tuesday and was expected to swell to more than 26.5 feet later in the day, nearly 5 feet over flood stage.

Along the river, sheriff's boats had to rescue residents trapped by the storm.

Some parts of the Alabama coast had received 2 1/2 feet of rain in addition to damaging wind. At the Dog River south of Mobile, where more than 100 boats capsized or were damaged, crews raked broken wood and other debris from the water.

After killing more than 370 people in the Caribbean, Georges was blamed for four deaths in the United States: an elderly woman who died in the heat while being evacuated from New Orleans; two people who were killed in Louisiana and Florida in fires caused by candles; and one person who died in an accident on a slick highway near Crestview, Fla.

Along the Gulf Coast, it will be awhile before the damage is added up. Some places suffered greatly, but overall, Georges was not a catastrophe.

Still, the effects of the enormous, slow-moving storm were immense.

"We just serve such a mighty God. He's so awesome," said Betty Murray, who owns Pas-Point Glass in Pascagoula, where workers were fixing a 40-by-100-foot patch of roof that had blown a half-mile away. "Can you hear the wind, and not know who sends it? He can start it and he can stop it."

Most interstates reopened, though there was some flooding. Traffic lights were down and military police directed traffic. Utility crews worked to restore power.

There were few reports of looting. In Gulfport, Miss., police said a man tried to enter a darkened home through a window, not realizing the owner was still there, with a gun.

Survey shows more good and bad news on teen drinking

More than half of teens drink, but the majority appoint a designated driver.

The Associated Press

CHICAGO — A survey of teen drinking found good news and bad news — more than half of the youths ages 16 to 19 said they drank during the preceding month, but nearly two-thirds said they always appoint a designated driver.

Still, even the good news in Tuesday's study had a twist: 80 percent think it's fine to drink as long as there is a designated driver, and nearly half think that designated drivers can still drink.

"We're not impressing on kids the fact that getting drunk can be dangerous," said Dr. Richard Heyman, a Cincinnati pediatrician and chairman of the substance abuse committee at the American Academy of Pediatrics, which released the study.

The results mirror a much larger government-supported study of 51,000 high school students released in December.

The telephone survey, conducted between Aug. 24 and Sept. 3, has a margin of error of plus or minus 4 percentage points.

Both surveys found that teens generally drink to get drunk, with the new results showing nearly 30 percent down six or more drinks each outing. Fifty-one percent said they consume between two and five drinks at a sitting.

"They don't stand around like an adult with their beer in their hand at a cocktail party. They take a six-pack," Heyman said. "They are mind-altering drinkers."

Findings include:

—Sixty-one percent said they'd consumed alcohol within the preceding month.

—Nearly a third mistakenly think a can of beer is less intoxicating than a shot of vodka.

—Boys and girls average about the same number of drinking days a month — 5.6 days and 5.2 days respectively. Boys are more likely than girls to have had six or more drinks in the preceding month — 32 percent vs. 22 percent.

—The average age when drinking begins is 14.

—Sixty-four percent say they avoid drunken driving by always appointing a designated driver when drinking with friends.

—Eighty percent think it's OK to drink with friends as long as there is a designated driver.

"Teens have the unfortunate misconception that if they designate a driver, they can still drink as much as they like," said Dr. Joseph R. Zanga, the academy's president.

Only 2 percent think designated drivers can drink five or more drinks. Nineteen percent think one drink is acceptable for a designated driver, and 17 percent think two drinks is OK.

Only about half "agree that a designated driver should not have a drink. Usually they just mean, 'Someone who drinks less than I do,'" Heyman said.

GLIPA teaches students art of journalism

□ Students from various high schools will improve their journalistic skills at the 46th annual GLIPA conference.

By IRENE SHARON SCOTT
The BG News

The University will be pushing its capacity limit today as 840 students participate in the 46th Annual Great Lakes Interscholastic Press Association

(GLIPA).

The day's program will offer approximately 75 sessions held at various buildings on campus. Sessions are offered in yearbook, newspaper, photography and broadcasting. The four main locations for these classes are at the Union, Mosley, South and West Hall.

"Many schools coming do not have a structured journalism program," said Linda Glomski, coordinator of GLIPA. "Sessions will give ideals and skills."

There will be professional media speakers and professional advisers experienced in publication, she said. Students from grades 6-12, who are involved in their school publication are expected to utilize this program.

The sessions offer students a hands-on experience. In addition, there are sessions available for high school teachers.

According to Glomski, there will be approximately 50 University students volunteering to help with GLIPA.

University students will volunteer as equipment movers, registration desk help and tour guides that direct crowds from session to session. University student volunteers will wear orange and white striped vests, Glomski said. "Teachers and visitors think these (University) students are the greatest."

Faculty members also participate in the GLIPA program. Ray Laakaniemi, a GLIPA speaker on the internet, said he hopes to share his journalistic knowledge with the students.

"I hope to accomplish two things," Laakaniemi said. "One is to share what I know. Two, is to learn from the students. The internet is a young person media. I want to learn how they use it in comparison to the way professors use it."

In previous years, GLIPA was a state organization, only for schools from the University community and Toledo.

However, starting in the late 70s and early 80s, GLIPA became a regional organization, inviting schools from cities in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. In fact, it has become the largest regional organization, according to Glomski.

In comparison to previous years, the number of participants has decreased. She said this is due to limited educational budgets and funds. Registration is $6. However, former participants get in free.

"GLIPA's purpose is to motivate and educate students involved in their school publications" Glomski said.

Seniors, juniors, and sophomores receive first priority because they are returning students. Freshmen housing assignments are then determined by what's available, he said.

First year students' single housing, is usually not an option, due to developmental education, Zentmeyer explained.

"We try to honor all students' selection," he said.

Also, students who initially requested single rooms will be accommodated first. The Office of Residence Life has received 60 or more requests for single rooms after the University opened this fall, he said.

Housing is full, but funds are available to accommodate halls such as renovation and maintenance, he said.

Full residence halls can be an inconvenience to students, especially in bathrooms and residential dining areas.

Erin Holler, freshman early childhood education major, agrees.

"The problem is with bathrooms and waiting for a shower," she said. "There is not enough showers and toilets per number of girls. The student bathroom ratio needs to be improved. Also, there needs to be a dining service in each dorm. Other dorms like Harshman use the Kreischer's Sun Dial."

Certain issues have inspired the 24 hour computer lab policy for residence halls during the week. There is one exception which is Rodgers. Rodgers' computer hours have been restricted because some computer items are missing, Zentmeyer said.

Some students do not see full residence halls as a problem. Chancey Shindle, Batchelder Residence Adviser, said that it is what she expected at a University and does not see it as a problem.

"I expect every room to be filled," she said. "I think, full residence halls build more of a community on the floor."

She sees full residence halls as an advantage because students are encouraged to get involved in organizations that will alleviate issues affecting them.

"Also, full residence halls unite people, to a point where they are comfortable with expressing their points of view," she said.

Sean Darkling, Kohl Hall resident advisor, sees full residence halls as an advantage too.

"Honestly, I think the fact that Conklin Hall was closed last year and that the University has a big freshman class, possibly the biggest one ever, has put a clamp on residence halls," Darkling said. "However, it's an advantage because students meet a variety of people."

Voyeurism, burglary suspect being sought by BGPD

□ The BGPD is looking for a suspect in a voyeurism and burglary case.

The BG News

The Bowling Green Police Division (BGPD) is currently looking for a man who is wanted for several voyeurism and burglary incidents that have occurred in the area of Clough Street.

The suspect is a white male between the ages of 25-35 years and is anywhere between 5'6" to 5'9" tall. He is approximately 170 lbs. and is described as having a thick build.

detective, said victims have described the suspect as being very hairy, with hairy arms, legs and back. He might also have bushy sideburns, a thick beard or a stubble, and the beard might have a red tint to it.

Several instances have occurred over the past few months, the first being in July, when the suspect broke into a University student's apartment on Ridge St. She was in the shower when he attempted to grab her.

In the 200 block of Clough St., another woman woke up at 2:30 a.m. to find the suspect sucking on her toes, naked and masturbating.

Two weeks ago, in the 1500 block of Clough St., a man surprised the suspect who was seen looking into his girlfriend's apartment window.

Five minutes later, the BGPD got another call by the same woman who said she went outside and found the suspect sitting on her front porch.

"We're hoping someone in the college community will recognize this man from on the streets or from a class," Chapman said.

He said all these instances have occurred between 10:30 p.m. and 2:30 a.m.

Anybody with information leading to the arrest of this man may contact either the University, police department at 372-7990, the BGPD at 352-1131, or someone may place an anonymous call to Crime-stoppers at 352-0077. There is a $1000 award for any pertinent information leading to his arrest.

"We believe that service to the community is very important," Larson said. "We are all Falcons and desire to work to bring our community together."

Rachel Smith, current director of Homecoming, said that at least 15 organizations and a few teams signed up for volunteering. These groups will be cleaning high-traffic areas such as blocks near the Union and the residence halls.

She said that information about this event was sent to more than 200 student organizations and residence halls. UAO still welcomes more volunteers and organizations to help out during the event.

"I understand this is a busy time for a lot of organizations on campus," Smith said. "I hope there will be a larger turnout in the spring, especially from the residence halls and Greek organizations."

Ed Whipple, vice president of Student Affairs, will be giving a speech before the event starts, Smith said.

"We want to keep the campus clean for alumni returning to the University," Smith said. "It is also important for us to have a clean community."

If you are interested in volunteering, call the UAO office at 419/372-2343 or show up at the location.

because they weren't aware of the implications with the system," she said.

The second phase of the new system is Open Registration. This is for all students who will be new to the University. New students will be allowed to start registering Nov. 30 to Dec. 31. These students will need to apply for admission, re-admission or guest admission prior to using the system.

The one aspect of the registration system that will remain the same is the STAR-90 system. Last January, improvements were made such as more lines opening up.

A positive aspect of the new system will allow a student who enters the system to remain in the system. This means that if a student is busy the first day of his or her registration, they are able to register the following day or any other time they are available.

The new registration system will be new to everyone on campus and the entire campus will need to work together to make it successful, said Waggoner.

If problems do occur with the new system, the University will need to fix it as they go, Waggoner said.

"Changing the registration process should make registration simpler for everyone, especially the students," Richardson said.

Bill passed to decrease student loan interest rates

□ The new bill offers several ways of decreasing student loans.

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The interest rate on college student loans would be lowered for all borrowers and the maximum student-aid grant would be raised under a bill passed by the Senate today. The bipartisan measure goes to President Clinton for his likely signature.

The 96-0 vote followed voice-vote House approval Monday of the compromise bill.

The measure also includes incentives for people to become teachers by offering to forgive part of their student loans if they teach in urban or rural districts with large numbers of poor children. It also includes a grant program for states to improve teacher preparation.

And teacher-preparation colleges would have to provide information to would-be students about what percentage of graduates pass teacher examinations.

The measure is one of the few education bills to find bipartisan support this election year.

A key provision would change the way interest rates are determined for student loans.

The new formula, based on Treasury bill interest rates and added points, would hold down what students pay by giving a subsidy to lenders. The rate for students would be 7.46 percent for new loans — the lowest rate in 17 years — down from 8.23 percent last year, sponsors say.

The measure also would raise the maximum authorized amount for Pell Grants to $4,500 a year in 1999-2000, up from $3,000. The amount would gradually rise to $5,800 in 2003-2004.

BG teams need your support

Despite the regular Homecoming ceremonies, there are five sports teams in action at home this weekend.

Come on! Go out and see what they have to offer in terms of excitement.

Here's what is going on in each sport.

- Football - The men in pads showed signs of exciting times to come in the first half against Central Florida. They have improved every game and will only get better. If the offense plays like it did in the first half where it dominated time of possession, the Falcons might rack up the first win. Remember, they have a good Homecoming record. The fan support for the CFU game was great in terms of people getting into the game — especially you guys in the fraternity that were tossing a member into the air for every BG point. The more people out there, the merrier.

- Volleyball - A win tonight means an undefeated Mid-American record headed into Friday and Saturday's showdowns against Buffalo and Kent. The junior class leads an explosive Falcon offense that can attack from any direction. Their exciting brand of volleyball pumps up the crowd. Before heading out to parties, make plans to stop at Anderson Arena Friday and Saturday.

- Men's Soccer - For this bunch, only one word needs to be said to light a fire - Akron. The two were picked to finish in the top two of the preseason poll. With all the success they've had in the past many seasons, the game should be a sellout. So after class Friday, come on out and see an exciting game. BG also battles Buffalo Sunday. (Note: As a freshman, I first saw the Falcons battle Memphis and have liked soccer ever since. You might also.)

- Women's Soccer - With two more home matches, the young and exciting Falcons are looking to show more MAC teams that they are for real as Western Michigan and Central invade Mickey Cochrane Field. There have been great crowds at the home contests. Those people know the excitement of soccer and want you to add to the thrill. So, come on out to Cochrane Sunday after studying and going to church.

- Men's Tennis - It is the season opener for the men's tennis team when it hosts its own invitational. I know there are some tennis lovers on this campus. Here's a chance to see some of that in your own backyard. This begins what the Falcons hope will become the road to the MAC title. On the field or court, there may be an equal number of players competing against each other, but the home crowd gives the home team that extra advantage. Are you a true Bowling Green Falcon fan? Now's your chance to prove it. As the old saying goes, you never know until you try. Come on, let's make this great university one of the toughest places to play in the nation!

Red Sox blast Tribe

□ The Red Sox have ended a long post-season slump with win over Indians.

The Associated Press

CLEVELAND — The last Boston Red Sox first baseman to make such a splash in the post-season did so by letting a ball roll through his legs.

Mo Vaughn's only connection with Bill Buckner is that they both play the same position. What separated the two Tuesday was something Boston fans have been waiting 12 tortuous years to see — a post-season win by the Red Sox.

Vaughn homered twice and tied a record with seven RBIs as Boston halted a 13-game post-season losing streak that began with Buckner's infamous error, beating Cleveland 11-3 in their AL playoff opener.

Nomar Garciaparra hit a three-run homer and Pedro Martinez pitched seven innings as Boston ended a slide that began on Oct.

25, 1986, when Mookie Wilson's grounder to first skipped past Buckner at Shea Stadium in the World Series.

That forced a Game 7 the Red Sox lost, and Boston — which hasn't won the Series since 1918 — was swept by Oakland in 1988 and '90, and then by Cleveland in 1995.

Those failures had weighed heavily on the Red Sox and especially on Vaughn, who went 0-for-14 with seven strikeouts in his only previous playoff experience in '95.

"It was nice to get off a lot of things," Vaughn said. "... We did all right, man. We did a lot of things individually and as a team. It was nice to get it done today."

This year's Red Sox insist the past is just that, and they're not cursed by Babe Ruth's ghost or any other demons. And with Boston's trio of stars doing most of the damage, the Red Sox made the Indians and 45,815 at Jacobs Field believers.

"I didn't even know we had one," Garciaparra said of the losing streak. "You're asking the wrong guy."

Mike Stanley, in his second stint with the Red Sox, knows there's no sense denying what happened.

"Even though you weren't here, you know," Stanley said. "You're still cognizant of what the record is in post-season and what Mo's done. You can't help but notice."

Vaughn ended his streak of playoff failure in the first inning with a three-run homer off Jaret Wright, sending Cleveland on to its worst loss in 55 post-season games.

Garciaparra's three-run homer made it 6-0 in the fifth. Vaughn connected for a two-run shot in the sixth off Doug Jones, becoming the □ BG volleyball heads to the Ohio hills for a battle with the Bobcats.

V-ball faces Bobcats

By MATT STEINER
The BG News

BG is 2-0 and headed to Athens.

The Falcon volleyball team continues the Mid-American Conference season with a road match at Ohio University at 7 p.m. BG is currently in first place in the MAC East Division. They downed Toledo and Marshall to reach their 2-0 record.

OU is currently 1-1 in the MAC and 7-7 overall. The Bobcats are improved from 1997. They were 3-9 and 0-2 in the conference at this point last year. They swept Central Michigan (15-11, 15-10, 15-12) to open the MAC season. OU lost a hard-fought match to Western Michigan Saturday (15-6, 10-15, 15-12, 9-15, 16-14).

"Western is a good team so I know that Ohio is playing well," BG coach Denise Van De Walle said. "They lost 16-14 (game 5), to me that goes either way."

The Bobcats are led by middle blockers Amber Merrill, Katie Mullen and setter Carolyn Cowling.

Mullen, a 6' 1" junior, leads the Bobcats with 158 kills. She is also the team leader with 119 digs. Sophomore Amber Merrill is close behind with 157 kills and 106 digs. Cowling, a senior, leads the team in the passing department with 552 assists.

Junior Val Waugaman returned against WMU after missing eight matches with an injured knee. She made her presence felt with 11 digs and two service aces in her first match since Sept. 5.

"We are looking forward to playing BG at home," OU coach Ellen Dempsey said. "They are a real solid ball control team. Kemerer and Murphy are real solid experienced players. Good serving and passing will be keys in helping our chances."

BG continues to get leadership on the court from juniors Heather Greig, Melissa Lewis, Heather Murphy, and Lori Kemerer. Greig is coming off of a 50 assist night against Marshall. Lewis, Murphy and Kemerer all had double digits in kills and digs in that match.

Murphy led the way with 24 kills and 15 digs. She is currently leading the MAC with 5.17 kills per game. She leads BG in kills (238), digs (172) and digs per game (3.74).

According to Van De Walle, junior Kris Pesorda should be returning to the starting lineup tonight. She missed the Toledo match on Sept. 23 with an injured knee, and saw some action against Marshall on Friday. Sophomore Joanna Papa-georgiou has done well filling the void.

If the Falcons want to stay atop the conference they will have to continue to play as they have against Toledo and Marshall.

"Everyone has to be ready to play on game day," Van De Walle said. "There is not an easy win or an easy team in the conference anymore. You have to take every match seriously. The conference is so strong from top to bottom."

After this match, BG returns to Anderson Arena for five straight matches.

UM favored to win CCHA title, again

□ Defending NCAA champion Michigan expected to grab another CCHA crown.

By WILLIAM SANDERSON
The BG News

There is probably only one man in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association that is worried about the University of Michigan — coach Red Berenson.

Despite coming in first in both the coaches poll and the media poll, Berenson is pessimistic about the Wolverines chances this year.

Michigan lost five players, Bill Muckalt, Chris Fox, Marty Turco, Greg Malickie and Matt Herr. The three of those five losses that concerns Berenson is Muckalt, Herr and Turco.

"They were key players for our team and key players for our league," Berenson said. "The question mark at Michigan will be how much we're over rated in the pre-season rankings. I really don't see anyone stepping up to replace those roles of a Muckalt or a Matt Herr."

Freshman Josh Blackburn is expected to inherit the role of starting goaltender from Turco.

Senior Bubba Bernzweig anchors a defense that also includes David Huntzicker, Sean Peach and Mike Van Ryn. Centers Bobby Hayes and Mark Kosick lead the Wolverines offensively.

2. Ohio State

Ohio State shocked the CCHA last year by getting all the way to the NCAA final four. This year they will be looking to prove that it was no fluke.

OSU is mostly the same group as they were last year. The Buckeyes will only lose a total of four players. Defensemen Ryan Root and Taj Schaffnit are the most notable.

OSU's top line of Hugo Boisvet, Eric Meloche and Jean-Francois Dufour will be back. Chris Richards, Dan Cousineau and goalies Ray Aho and Jeff Maund are also returning.

"We are returning a mature team for the first time," OSU coach John Markell said. "We're looking forward to watching the older upperclassmen lead the club this year."

3. Michigan State

While Michigan lost Turco, the Spartans may have lost an equally good goaltender in Chad Alban. In 40 games, Alban carried a 1.57 goals-against average and was named the CCHA Player of the Year.

Sophomore Joe Blackburn will be looked on to replace Alban. In five games last year, Blackburn looked good with a 2.23 goals-against average.

The other big loss was solid defenseman and team leader Tyler Harlton.

Otherwise the Spartans figure to still be strong. Hobey Baker finalist Mike York will be back for his senior season.

"We do have a proven offensive player in Mike York," MSU coach Ron Mason said. "He should have an outstanding sea-

Wells, Riviera shut down Texas Rangers

David Wells is 5-0 in the postseason after shutting down Texas.

The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — David Wells delivered a perfect postseason start for the New York Yankees.

Playing their most important game in nearly six months, the Yankees looked every bit like the winningest team in AL history, beating the Texas Rangers 2-0 Tuesday night in Game 1 of their division series.

Wells pitched eight strong innings as the Yankees, who won their final seven games to finish with 114 victories, picked up exactly where they left off.

Wells, whose perfect game in May highlighted New York's dream year, improved to 5-0 in postseason action with the Yankees, Baltimore, Cincinnati and Toronto.

The left-hander gave up five hits and struck out nine. He kept Juan Gonzalez from hitting a ball out of the infield and escaped his only real jam by fanning Mike Simms to end the seventh with runners on first and second.

Mariano Rivera pitched a perfect ninth for a save as the Yankees won one month to the day they clinched a playoff spot in August.

Todd Stottlemyre nearly matched Wells, allowing just six hits and striking out eight for a complete game in front of his father, Mel, New York's pitching coach.

The Stottlemyre family affair surely created some anxious moments. The wives of both Mel and Todd sat in the Yankees' family section, and did not hesitate to cheer when a New York runner was thrown out at the plate in the first inning.

When Todd won at Yankee Stadium last month — his fifth straight victory at the ballpark where he grew up as a kid — his mother left her usual seat to sit with the Rangers' wives.

"I just wanted to be in this section this time," Jean Stottlemyre said.

The only controversial move made by Yankees manager Joe Torre paid off handsomely. Chad Curtis, whose defense earned him the start in left field ahead of fan favorites Darryl Strawberry and Shane Spencer, doubled to set up a two-run second inning.

With the crowd of 57,362 cheering, Scott Brosius hit an RBI single and then the Yankees tricked Texas, with Brosius getting caught in a rundown on a steal attempt while Curtis sneaked home.

Andy Pettitte (16-11), who struggled down the stretch, will start Game 2 Wednesday night against Texas' Rick Helling (20-7) in the best-of-5 series.

Wells shut down the AL's top-hitting team, permitting just one runner past first base until the seventh. His lone walk came to Mark McLemore leading off the game and Texas did not get a hit until Rusty Greer singled off shortstop Derek Jeter's glove with one out in the fourth.

The Yankees lost a chance to jump on Stottlemyre right at the start. He hit Chuck Knoblauch in the shoulder with his second pitch and one out later, Paul O'Neill doubled into the left-field corner.

But overly aggressive third-base coach Willie Randolph sent Knoblauch — even with AL batting champion Bernie Williams on deck — and the relay from Rusty Greer to shortstop Royce Clayton to Gold Glove catcher Ivan Rodriguez nailed him.

BG ready for second season as OU invades Perry Stadium

Ohio provides first taste of MAC for BG.

By TOD McCLOSKEY
The BG News

The preseason is over.

After non-conference losses to Missouri, Penn State and Central Florida, Bowling Green faces its first Mid-American Conference opponent - Ohio.

But, the Falcons (0-3) seem confident about facing the complicated Bobcat option offense. Ohio (1-3 overall, 1-0 in the Mid-American Conference) has outscored BG 62-0 the past two straight years with the option attack. This year BG has already faced a similar version of the Bobcat offense against Missouri.

"I think one advantage we may have had is we've been practicing the option against our own offense or in preparation against Missouri," coach Gary Blackney said. "So, it's not like we only have one week to get ready for the option, which is usually the case."

QB settled

Blackney has named Ricky Schneider the starting quarterback for the Ohio game. Schneider started his first game of the season last week, in a 38-31 loss to Central Florida. The sophomore led BG to scoring drives on the first three possessions of the game.

"The offensive line did a great job," a modest Schneider said about the offensive production. "I couldn't have done anything without their help."

Senior quarterback Bob Niemet has posted disappointing numbers through three games. Niemet is 7-of-25 for 63 yards, one touchdown and three interceptions.

"That's what it's all about, being able to move the team, get into the endzone and making sure the quarterback doesn't hurt the team," Blackney said. "I'm anticipating that Ricky Schneider will get the job done."

4-3 for BG

The Falcons switch to the 4-3 defensive formation should help the team Saturday against Ohio. The 4-3 defense uses four down linemen, three linebackers and provides more team speed.

The key determinant will be BG outside linebackers Khary Campbell and Gary Fisher to contain Ohio's option. Falcon defensive ends Letoskey Carey and D.J. Durkin are also important, their penetration into the backfield will force tailbacks back inside.

Keep it down

Ohio averaged 27.3 points per game in 1997 and continually wins high-scoring games. Last week, the Bobcats won their first MAC game a 37-35 road win at Western Michigan.

Coach Blackney knows the Falcons can't compete with the Bobcats in a high point game. BG will try to play ball control offense, as it did in the first half of the Central Florida game. In that half, BG held the Golden Knights to four possessions and led at the half, 21-14.

Run, run, run

Ohio has run the ball 247-of-287 plays called this year. Senior tailback Steve Hookfin leads the team with 361 rushing yards and two touchdowns. Senior tailback/quarterback Kareem Wilson also is an important part of the option attack. Wilson has 198 yards on the ground and four touchdowns.

"I think he's just a good all-around back," Blackney said about Hookfin. "Whether he's at fullback or tailback, he's a factor."

Last year Ohio threw the ball a mere 65 times, as compared to 649 running plays.

first Boston player to hit two homers in a postseason game since Rico Petrocelli in the 1967 World Series.

Vaughn added a two-run double in the eighth off Jim Poole to set a career-high for RBIs and tie Edgar Martinez's record for RBIs in a postseason game.

"I just wanted an opportunity to get here again," Vaughn said.

Kenny Lofton hit a two-run homer and Jim Thome had a solo shot for the Indians, who with Wright taking the mound were hoping to recapture some of the magic that carried them to Game 7 of the World Series last year.

Wright, however, couldn't get out of the fifth inning. The 22-year-old right-hander, who went 3-0 in the postseason in '97, was touched for six runs and seven hits in 4 1-3 innings.

Cleveland will try to salvage a home split in Game 2 on Wednesday. Dwight Gooden — coincidentally the loser the last time the Red Sox won a postseason game — will start for the Indians against knuckleballer Tim Lincecum. Game 3 in the best-of-5 series is scheduled for Friday in Boston.

Losing a Game 1 is nothing new to the Indians, who have lost the opener in seven consecutive postseason series.

"It's discouraging, but then again it isn't," Thome said. "We lost the first game three times last year and came back to win. Tomorrow is big. We don't want to go to Boston down two."

The Indians knew going in that Martinez would be tough. Down three runs after one inning, their challenge went from difficult to dire.

Cleveland batted just .170 in losing twice against the right-hander during the regular season, and although Martinez had struggled in September — 1-3 with a 4.15 ERA in five starts — he looked sharp for the first five innings, allowing just two hits.

The Indians pulled to 8-3 in the seventh on Thome's homer and had runners at second and third with one out. But Martinez got

Northern Michigan only lost three players from last year's team. Defensemen Chris Sheptak and Rock Welsing and forward John Bossio are gone, but everyone else comes back.

The Wildcats are led in scoring by senior center Buddy Smith and in goals by junior left wing Roger Trudeau. Starting goalie Duane Hoyer is coming off a season in which he had a 2.93 goals-against average.

Notre Dame is entering its first season of high expectations. After coming in tenth two years ago, the Irish finished sixth last year.

Senior Forrest Karr will take over in net for Matt Eisler. After having been a backup in his previous three years the question will be how he handles it.

Over the summer, defenseman Mark Eaton signed with the Philadelphia Flyers.

Ben Simon, Aniket Dhadphale, Benoit Cotnoir and Brian Urlick will pace the Irish offense.

6. Ferris State

Senior captain Joel Irwin is coming off a season in which he totaled 15 goals and 19 assists. He will be joined by Geoff Bennetts, Ed Kowalski, Kenzie Homer and Brent Wishart.

Last year goalie Vince Owen had a 3.23 goals against average and a .879 save percentage.

"(Owen) had a solid year last year," Daniels said. "I believe he's got the potential to be among the best goaltenders in the league."

7. Miami

The only team that was really hit hard by graduation was Miami. They graduated 10 players. Three seniors from last year, Adam Copeland, Todd Rohloff and Dan Boyle, signed NHL contracts.

Miami coach Mark Mazzeolini believes his recruits have the talent and only need experience.

"I like our overall talent base, but we're going to be very young," Mazzeolini said. "That's going to be a telling sign for us."

8. Bowling Green

Returning for BG will be leading scorer Dan Price, forward Adam Edinger and goaltender Shawn Timm.

With a large Sophomore class, Powers hopes they can improve from a last place finish last year.

"With where we finished last year, we're out to prove that that was an aberration," Powers said. "We're out to prove that we are not bottom-feeders, and we belong in the upper echelon of this league."

9. Lake Superior State

After a disappointing season by Lakers standards, things are not looking much better. Their top four scorers, Terry Marchant, Jason Sessa, Joe Blaznek, Ted Laviolette and David Lambeth are gone.

"I think our strength will be knowing our limitations," Lake State coach Scott Borek said. "We're not the type of team that will one-on-one anyone."

10. Western Michigan

Western Michigan is coming off a ninth place finish, and they lost five players from that squad. The Broncos lose Joel Irving, Jeff Rucinski, Brent Lovett, Steve Duke and Chris Slater.

In the interim, assistant coach Jim Kulhane will take over coaching duties.

11. Alaska-Fairbanks

Dave Laurion wants to get a little respect for his program. Alaska-Fairbanks has never challenged the CCHA hierarchy, but they've also never come in last.

"We've had some success and some failure," Laurion said. "We have been picked to be at the bottom each year and we have not ended up at the bottom. I hope we'll be a surprise team this year similar to OSU."

HOUSTON (AP) — The Big Unit finally met his match in the Astrodome.

In a brilliant performance that would be expected more from 6-foot-10 Randy Johnson, San Diego's Kevin Brown struck out 16 and allowed just two hits in eight innings Tuesday, leading the Padres to a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros in the opener of the best-of-5 division series.

NEW YORK — Despite the record-topping performances of Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa, home runs were up only slightly this year.

There were 5,064 home runs in 2,430 major league games this season, an average of 2.08. Even though it was an expansion year, home runs were up only 1.5 percent from the average of 2.05 homers per game in 1997.

Baseball's record average of 2.19 was set in 1996, when 4,962 homers were hit.

The NL batting average dropped one point this year to .262 and the AL remained at .271.
